Prolotherapy - Regenerative Orthopaedic Medicine Workshops

Cancun, Mexico, January 31 – February 7, 2015

BRAND NEW
This year in Cancun the AAOM is offering two workshops at the same time, same location, with two levels of instruction.
(Registrants may register for and attend only one of the workshops)

The AAOM Cancun Prolotherapy and Regenerative Injection Therapy Workshop will provide the AAOM Core Curriculum for Prolotherapy and Regenerative Injection Therapies that the AAOM is known for, along with a 4 student to one teacher ratio and only two students per each treatment table allowing almost individualized instruction. Each table of 2 students will have patients scheduled such that each student will have the opportunity to inject patients with all types of pain including back pain, patients with shoulder pain, patients with elbow problems, patients with hip and pelvis pain, etc., so that when you see these problems in your clinic you should be comfortable with starting at least a basic treatment regimen. There will be plenty of patients to see but it will not be overwhelming and there will be someone there to help you at each step as you need it. Students must fulfill the prerequisites necessary to attend the AAOM 2015 Cancun Prolotherapy and Regenerative Medicine Workshop. The enrollment for the AAOM Prolotherapy and Regenerative Injection Therapy Workshop is 20 students.

Application Requirements and Prerequisites
1. Attendance to at least one AAOM Annual Conference or Annual Workshop
2. AAOM Active Member – MD or DO
3. Copy of Current State Medical License

The AAOM Advanced Skills Prolotherapy and Regenerative Injection Therapy Workshop has been planned to follow the format of the AAOM Core Curriculum for Prolotherapy and Regenerative Injection Therapies, with the 4:1 student to teacher ratio and only two students per each treatment table again allowing almost individualized instruction. However, for the Advanced Skills Workshop we have Master Teachers; Bjorn Eek, MD, Jean Paul Ouellette, MD and Tom Ravin, MD teaching advanced injection techniques, needle skills, diagnostic techniques and they will be training you to treat using those more advanced skills in more complex areas in higher risk patients, such as cervical approaches, ribs and other more difficult sites. This AAOM Advanced Skills Workshop will be the first of its kind offered anywhere, designed as an almost “Preceptorship Styled” workshop with the Masters of Orthopaedic Medicine. Students must fulfill the prerequisites necessary to attend the AAOM 2015 Advanced Skills Prolotherapy and Regenerative Medicine Workshop. Enrollment for the AAOM 2015 Advanced Skills Prolotherapy and Regenerative Medicine Workshop 12 students. JOIN US in learning one of the most rewarding procedures in all of Medicine - Prolotherapy. This technique allows you to be the healer you set out to be when you went to medical school.
The Cancun AAOM Workshop has been invaluable in my training as a prolotherapist treating sports medicine as well as chronic musculoskeletal injuries. The workshop is well organized with practical lectures and hands on diagnostic and injection techniques lead by many of the top physicians in the world. The repetitions and one-on-one instruction alone is worth the trip, not to mention the community of physicians who embrace and foster your learning experience. It is “a must” for those wanting to learn or perfect their anatomical and injection techniques for what I believe is rapidly becoming the orthopedics of the future!” - J. Mike Carlson, DO

“Being the first Hong Kong and Asian Dr to attend the AAOM’s Mexico Hands-On Prolotherapy workshop in 2008 and 2009, and being able to teach in Cancun workshop in 2014, I am in the right position to introduce this “MUST ATTEND” hands on workshop to all doctors who are learning prolotherapy and want to start doing prolotherapy and regenerative medicine. The workshop is very well organized with 1-hour morning practical lectures and hands on diagnostic and injection techniques instructed by the leaders of Prolotherapy and Pain Management in the world. The teaching faculty are sharing their knowledge and skills unselfishly. It is followed by all hands on clinic, treating real patients, for 7-8 hours a day, initially one-on-one instruction by the great teaching faculty, and by the time of finishing the workshop in the end of the week, most attendees were able to professionally perform a critical diagnostic examination, and treat the common musculoskeletal pain problems or sports injuries safely with prolotherapy. Attendees will perfect with the mechanism of prolotherapy, how to treat the root causes of the pain effectively, the clinical anatomy knowledge and of course the needling techniques! The population of the patients were awesome, most of them could not afford to receive expensive treatment, but they are great people, respectful and grateful to the treatment provided by the whole team of AAOM Drs. The location is the perfect, convenient to all parts of the world, and the duration of the workshop is just right! No matter which countries you’re coming from, this is the best hands on workshop you MUST attend!” - Stanley Lam, MBBS

“If you’re tired of going to courses that are “all talk” and no results go the the AAOM Mexico Prolotherapy workshop. I have a few years of experience doing prolotherapy, and my productivity doing prolotherapy more than doubled after returning from the workshop. It is an invaluable experience to work alongside other physicians who use prolotherapy. I learned new techniques and was able to fine tune the skills I already had. The lectures, which are excellent thanks to the knowledge base of the accomplished AAOM faculty, are far more profound in a course like this where you actually perform prolotherapy on real patients. If you have not attended this course it is a must for physicians who practice prolotherapy.” - Dr. Jacob DiCesare, DO

“The AAOM prolotherapy Cancun workshop is a “must - attend” for physicians desiring expert teaching and hands-on experience in a wonderful setting. The faculty is truly world class. The trip was well organized and exceeded my expectations. You can’t get this training and experience anywhere else.” - Donald J. Voelker, MD, FACC,FSCAI, FSCCT

What you can expect from an AAOM Educational Program:

The AAOM Mission for Education... In all of the AAOM Educational endeavors, the AAOM strives to provide students with:

- The best and most experienced instructors
- A student to instructor ratio of 4 to 1 for individualized attention
- The best instruction about prolotherapy both as a treatment methodology; with emphasis on anatomy, needle skills and as a specific treatment using 15 - 25% dextrose
- An understanding of the treatment methodology of prolotherapy, which will facilitate having greater success with other injection therapies including PRP and Stem Cell injections
- When to use and how to use prolotherapy as a standalone treatment, or as a combined or layered treatment with subcutaneous perineural injections, interventional spine techniques, PRP, and manual medicine
- An understanding of the mechanisms of healing with prolotherapy and when it may be a good or even the only option for treatment
- Fundamental instruction about prolotherapy grounded in the basics of anatomy and diagnosis of MSK pain
- Accurate MSK diagnostic skills, which is actually the cornerstone of our training in prolotherapy; we provide the techniques and understanding that only through proper diagnosis can it be determined why a patient is in pain and if and when prolotherapy may be a good treatment option.
